RESISTANT, THE ETERNAL COLLECTION BY
LAPICIDA IS DESIGNED FOR BOTH RESIDENTIAL

COVER - SEMBLANCE: STONE FLOOR / CARBON WORKSURFACE

SEMBLANCE: CARBON (WALL) STONE (FLOOR)

A collection of high-performance antibacterial surfaces created using Microban® technology. An antimicrobial shield is built into the surface of the product, eradicating up to 99.9% of bacteria for life.

A long-term solution to the prevention of bacterial growth, reducing the risk of cross-contamination.

Silver ions integrated permanently into the surface are active throughout the lifecycle of the product. When bacteria comes into contact with the treated surface, the protective layer blocks its metabolism, interrupting the lifecycle of the bacteria preventing it from spreading. The antibacterial shield does not wear out over time and the surface does not need to be retreated.

Microban® technology complies with international safety regulations and has been tested by independent specialist laboratories. It does not whiten or reduce the colour of the porcelain surface it is integrated into and the tiles are installed in the same way as 'normal' tiles.

Antibacterial porcelain surfaces are suitable for both residential and commercial environments:
